VIETNAM TEACH-IN

On Wednesday, March 20, at 7:30pm there will be a teach-in on Vietnam. The teach-in will be moderated by Mr. Hench and Mr. Delguidice, and will feature Mr. Don Luce, who recently returned after nine years with the International Voluntary Service program in Vietnam. As director, Mr. Luce led the activities of 160 volunteers working in agriculture, education, youth affairs, refugee work and village development.

Mr. Luce has traveled widely in Vietnam and is well known and highly respected by many Vietnamese. Because he has been able to communicate directly with Vietnamese people at every level of society for many years, he has a deep understanding of the country and of the problems which both Vietnamese and Americans face there.

It is this understanding which led him and three senior members of his staff to resign from their posts after a long and agonizing reappraisal of their responsibilities to the Vietnamese and American people. They resigned with a plea to President Johnson to consider the severe suffering of the Vietnamese people and to understand the growing Vietnamese resentment of this war.

Mr. Luce, who once supported fully the American involvement in Vietnam, has seen more and more Vietnamese people in the last two years turning against their government and the Americans who support it. He is taking every opportunity to speak with the American people and government officials in order to communicate the seriousness and significance of this trend and the reasons behind it.

Since early October, Mr. Luce has appeared before Senator Edward Kennedy's Subcommittee on Refugees, on the TODAY show and before many groups in more than thirty cities across the country. He has also talked with nearly fifty Members of Congress and with several officials in the State Department and Executive Offices.

Mr. Luce is now on the staff of the Center for International Studies at Cornell University.

Students interested are urged to attend.

Letter to the Editor.

A Special Thanks

My sincere thanks to all who helped make the concert which took place on March 14, a tremendous success. My appreciation not only goes to the workers on the refreshment committee and the program typist, but also to the vocalists and pianist who performed exquisitely.

A special thanks to the members of the audience who came not only out of curiosity but also out of an interest in college activities.

Once again my gratitude to all and May God Bless.

ED CLUB FIELD TRIP

The Education Club of GCC made the second in a series of three field trips on Thursday, March 14, by traveling to Tapley School, on Bay Street, in Springfield,

For many, this was the first glimpse of a city school. During the two-and-one-half hour visit, the visitors were allowed to wander through the building, and sit in on any class that appeared to be interesting.

Of particular interest, according to most, was the progressive method of teaching, which seemed to dominate the school. One portion of this progressive program, is the Teaching Corps, which prepares persons with a B.S. in any field, for a Masters in Education, through two years of field work.

The day was well spent, and many of the club members returned with the impression that teaching could be fun, and all look forward to the next trip.

CLUB 125 MAR. 30
ADMISSION ONE DOLLAR

March 27, at 11:30 sharp, the Drama Club of GCC presents another in its continuing series of presentations. Produced as a dramatic reading, will be Jean Paul Sartre's "No Exit" (translated by Paul Bowles) directed by George Maiewski, a second year student.

The cast includes Brian Marsh, as Cradeau; Nancy McAvoy, as Inez, Dolores Griel plays Estelle, and David Brennen, the Bellboy.

Maiewski remarks that, "although there are some controversial issues in the play, it should be extremely interesting to all."

Admission is free, and open to the public.

Notes from the Underground...
by Peter Haughton

Speculators in Europe are buying up the gold supply. For those of you who have been following the news papers recently, you are aware of the fact that this purchase is very much like that of 1928-29, which led to the Great Depression. America, in order to avoid economic warfare, is not exchanging their foreign currency for gold, which would help to keep the gold standard on a good medium. This, shall we say "pacifistic", stand by America, on economic warfare; seems to show just where the American moral conscience lies... money.

To me it seems strange that a country, such as ours, can continue a worthless blood war, and yet at the same time remain idealistic about a money war. Perhaps the present administration has not yet been able to distinguish between the living human being, and the dollar bill, and so, at random, they make decisions on each: be careful of the money; don't worry about human lives, we have plenty of extra ones.

Why has America gone so far downhill? Can we rise up again? In November the American people have a chance to dump the dolts, and begin anew in the White House. Lyndon Johnson, who is obviously the wrong man for the job, will run again for the presidency, unless someone else is nominated over him for the Democratic ticket. That someone else, of course is either Eugene McCarthy or Robert Kennedy.

Some will say that McCarthy is no good... "He's an intellect, not a politician". Others will say that Kennedy is no good... "He's trying to get somewhere on his brother's name". Let's face it, all of this comes out of the myth that a president has to be re-nominated. This year let's reject the myth, in favor of a change in government. The Republican candidate this year will most likely be Richard Nixon, better known as "Tricky Dick", a very poor choice for the White House, and a probable loser, as his popularity has fallen pretty much into extinction.

Should Johnson be re-nominated, and run against Nixon, Johnson would probably win. If he did we would have to put up with his Great Society brand of hipocracy for another four years. If Nixon were to win, we would still be in a sick position with his own famous brand of hipocracy.

To end the reign of an immoral unadulterated fool, the American people must unite, and show strength in the primaries, for either McCarthy or Kennedy. In order to bring this country to its senses, in order to instill responsibility and moral consciousness into its people, the people must first be responsible enough to take away the votes that the evil feeds upon, and give them to a worthy opponent.

There will be primaries held at the college in the near future. It is up to each student to vote, and vote with a clear conscience, for the candidate of his choice.

SPRING

Because Spring Weekend is such a special occasion, you should begin looking around for a marvelous mood-piece (formal). Let a new romantic look create the mood. The lovable look is lively and fun.

Perhaps a devastating silk crepe gown molding the body, or a straight chiffon gown with an enticing slit to the knee. An evening dress with assorted cutouts showing a little bare skin is a great shape for that night. A low scooped dress baring the back is cool, perfectly right for the occasion.

Short on money? Put your creating mind to work by designing and making your own formal. It'll be a challenge, but it's an opportunity to show off some hidden talents. Best of all you'll have the only one of it's kind!

UNDERCURRENT'S MONTHLY AWARDS

(Due to the success of Esquire's Dubious Achievement Awards UNDERCURRENT has decided to give its own monthly awards to those it feels have in some way done a service or action deserving of recognition, and to increase the awareness of our general reading public.)

GREAS. SPOON AWARD: To Kelly's, for ignoring students, while they wait on other customers; for their french fries, and for their endless fight for bigotry.

GASTRONOMICAL AWARD: To Automatique, for their own "dishwater" coffee, for the degenerated carrot slices, which come with each tasteless sandwich, and for their wide selection of pastries.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT AWARD: To Mrs. Case's class last semester in Applied Psych. for their survey on the quality of toilet tissue at GCC, which resulted in a change to a new brand of tissue.

KEEN INSIGHT OF THE MONTH: To Police Chief John Murphy, for his prophetic comment at the Community Youth Forum, when he said that a coffee house would result in other communities "dumping their garbage" into Greenfield.

GREAT TOWN GREENFIELD AWARD: To the committee responsible for the sign that welcomes travelers to Greenfield, on route 91; for it's excellent planning of the sign's position, and for neglecting to put even one "show negro" in the picture of its townfolk.

LONGEVITY AWARD: To the GCC cigarette machine, which has been in use so long that one must give it physical assistance when attempting to buy a pack of cigarettes.

WRETCHED EXCESS: To UNDERCURRENT.

CONCERT REVIEW

On Tuesday, March 14, the Cultural Events Committee presented a concert featuring Mrs. Betty Turner, Dr. Bernard Drabeck, and Mrs. Phyllis Stone. The concert, composed of selections from operas and operettas, was a total success.

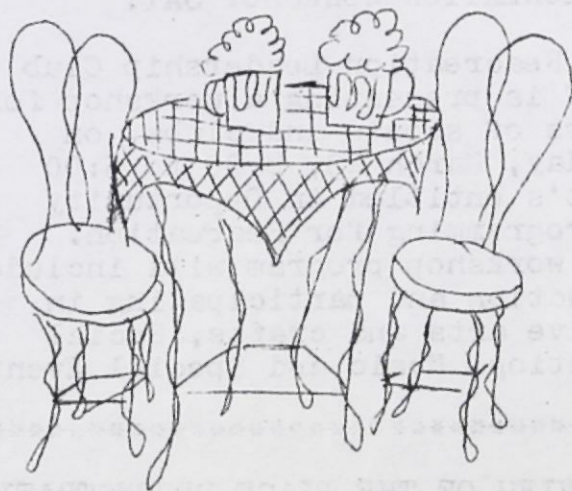

Mrs. Turner sings mezzo-soprano, and Dr. Drabeck, tenor; both performing excellently in respective solos and duets. The numbers in the program included, "As the Sun Was Surely Shining", "Under the Window", and "Only the Lonely Heart", which were three of the excellently rendered duets. Dr. Drabeck's three solos: "Lungo Dal Carlo bene" by Secchi; "Nina", by Pergolesi, and Durante's "Danza, Danza", fanciulla gentile. Mrs. Turner followed with two solos; "Cara Sposa", by Handel, From the opera "Rinaldo; and "Connais-tu-le pays" from the opera "Mignon", by Thomas.

Mrs. Turner and Dr. Drabeck presented, as the fourth part of the program, selections from Offenbach's "Perichole", followed by Mrs. Turner singing three solos, including "When I Bring You Colored Toys"; "The Daisies" and "Black Roses".

The program concluded with excerpts from Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, including an absolutely hilarious rendition of "Rapture Rapture".

The fine voices of Mrs. Turner and Dr. Drabeck, backed by the excellent accompaniment of Mrs. Stone, made the evening very enjoyable, indeed. The humor and relaxed atmosphere, the professional aura of the performers, all resulted in a comfortable atmosphere full of excellent sound.

The audience, which was totally absorbed in the program for the entire night, responded enthusiastically, calling Dr. Drabeck and Mrs. Turner back for two curtain calls at the end of the program. All three performers are to be congratulated on their fine performances. It is hoped that the cultural events in the future echo the excellence that the audience witnessed Thursday night.
